

Advantages of studying abroad at Westfield House:

- world-wide recognition for offering a high standard of training, small classes, high teacher to student ratio and emphasis on practical experience
- working relationship with the University of Cambridge gives students access to world-class lectures and library facilities for their studies
- ability to work with the student's home institution to ensure transfer of credits
- modules in Theology, Biblical Studies, English, History, Philosophy and Religious Studies
- ready access to transportation around Great Britain and Europe for travel opportunities
- academical and spiritual enrichment through the global nature of its student body, including study abroad students from universities and seminaries around the world and theology students from Europe, Africa, and Asia

Learn more about Study Abroad at Westfield House

1. Visit our website at www.westfieldhouse.org.uk,
2. Meet with the study abroad director/ WHIST representative at your home institution to find out more.
3. Contact Dr Cynthia Lumley, Westfield House Principal, with any specific questions (see front of flier).

Westfield House is the House of Theological Studies of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of England (ELCE) which is a registered charity in England and Wales (registered number 220466) and in Scotland, via ELCE Trust Ltd (registered number SC041204).

Registered Office:
28 Huntingdon Road,
Cambridge CB3 0HH, UK
www.lutheran.co.uk

Westfield House
Cambridge

Study Abroad Opportunity in Cambridge, England

30 Huntingdon Road
Cambridge, UK CB3 0HH
+44 (0)1223 354331
www.westfieldhouse.org.uk

Dr Cynthia Lumley, Principal lumley@westfieldhouse.org.uk

Peyton Persinger, Autumn 2013,
Wisconsin Lutheran College study abroad student, History and English
Major, Theology Minor

“Westfield House is helping me prepare for my vocation as a teacher in numerous ways. Not only am I adding more knowledge to my schema, but I have also learned how to better articulate my ideas.

“[In the] spring I knew that I wanted to study abroad. I talked with my advisor and he recommended that I look into the programme at Westfield House. At the time, the only things I knew about Westfield House were its location in Cambridge, and that it was a Lutheran Theological College. After more research, I found that it was a perfect fit for me. As a child it was always my dream to live in England, and I never thought that it was even plausible, but the Lord made a way.

“If you are considering studying at Westfield House, stop. Just do it. Two of the main reasons that I would recommend this are the following: 1. Studying abroad changes one’s world view 2. This is an unique opportunity to study within a Christian but Cambridge context.”

Westfield Windows, Sep./Oct. 2013

Westfield House is the home of the theological training programme of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of England (ELCE). It also offers a study abroad programme in Theology and the Liberal Arts for students who do not have a theology major or minor.

STUDY ABROAD OPPORTUNITIES:

Study abroad students from a number of Lutheran universities and seminaries from around the world are welcomed at Westfield House. Whether for a year (graduate students) or for a semester (undergraduates), the time spent studying in Cambridge broadens students’ horizons.

Recent Study Abroad students say goodbye

ACADEMIC STUDY:

Benefitting from University of Cambridge lectures and the modules and tutorials offered by the Lutheran faculty at the House, the Westfield student reads theology in a vibrant setting where confessional Lutheran theology is at the forefront.

Westfield House students studying scripture together

LIVING IN CAMBRIDGE:

Moving to a foreign country for study can be an exciting yet challenging time. The UK in general— and Cambridge specifically— is a unique place to live that provides many opportunities to learn, grow and develop both inside and outside the classroom.

*View of iconic King’s College,
Cambridge University*

